Speaker Agreement

The DevConf.cz planning team has created the DevConf.cz Speaker Agreement to outline the expected responsibilities of DevConf.cz speakers. Please read through the items listed below before clicking "I Accept" on the session submission form.

COMPENSATION

I understand that DevConf.cz does not financially compensate speakers.

SPEAKER PROFILES

I will fill out my user profile, including full name and photo, with the understanding that my information might be populated for me if not provided in time for the schedule.

SESSION PREPARATION

If I am unable to devote the time and energy to this effort, I will notify the DevConf.cz planning team and DevConf.CZ will replace my session.

I understand that if I am participating on a tutorial with others that I am expected to communicate with the other speakers on my session before the event. I understand that if I am delivering a group or solo presentation, I am expected to spend a significant amount of time preparing for my session before the event.

To aid in schedule planning, I will also communicate any of the following with the DevConf.cz presentation committee:

- Schedule conflicts
- Session format
- Technical requirements/requests
- Changes to your speaker lineup

OBTAINING CONSENT

I understand that I am responsible for obtaining any required consents, permissions, and clearances to display or otherwise use any materials (both visual and audio) that I incorporate in my session.

PROMOTED CONTENT

I understand that DevConf.cz is primarily an educational event, not a sales platform. I understand that if my session content is geared primarily towards marketing or sales of a particular product, that it will be clearly stated in the title and opening description of the session.

STAYING ON TOPIC AND ON TIME

I understand that staying focused on the topic outlined in the title and description of my session is extremely important. During my session, I pledge to stay focused on the topic at hand and make sure that the information presented adheres to the difficulty level (beginner, intermediate, or advanced) designated for my session.

CODE OF CONDUCT

I understand that my slides and on-stage remarks must abide by the Code of Conduct which will be adhered during this conference. I understand that my slides may be reviewed ahead of time, and that I may need to modify my presentation if it does not adhere with the Code of Conduct. I also understand that if, while I am presenting, I fail to abide by the spirit of the Code of Conduct, my session recording might not be published.

SESSION RECORDING

I have read the Media Policy and understand that my session will be recorded and made publicly available following the conference.
